- Description

Modeling of Low Pressure Plasmas in CH₄-H₂ Mixtures

Luís Lemos Alves

Collisional-radiative (0-dimensional) study of methane-hydrogen study. Various kinetic pathways were reviewed and updated. Results were simulated for several experimental parameters (input power, neutral gas flow and discharge composition). A study of charged species in ambipolar electric fields is also performed and an updated method of calculating edge to center ratios of charge species density is proposed.

Experience

2015–current

Development of DAQBroker, universal experimental monitoring platform

2016–2017

Data acquisition consultant at the CLOUD experiment, Centre Européen pour la Recherche Nucléaire (CERN), Switzerland

2013–2016

Marie Curie Fellow - CLOUD experiment data acquisition expert, Centre Européen pour la Recherche Nucléaire (CERN), Switzerland

2019 - Present

Full-stack software developer & mentor - Mov.AI, Portugal
